Fellowship Around a Carpenter's Table

Karen's Font | March 17, 2022

Plans were made and tickets were bought for a small group from Colorado to come to Los Domos and build items out of wood that could be used at camp. But due to 2020 circumstances, it was postponed for two years. After replanning, the Carpenter's Workshop was scheduled for the end of last month.

First we thought six people were coming, then we heard 12. Once the event began, 18 people showed up (mostly Mexicans from an hour or two away) representing seven organizations.

But a crowd was no problem. David is gifted at drawing out and helping people use their talents. Soon enough, he had all of these eager volunteers working on something that would help make camp better.

Three languages were spoken around the rough "Alaskan" saw-milled plank table supported by hay bails. In addition to great meals, there was song, prayer, devotionals and good old get-to-know-you interaction.

My job was to feed these hungry men. Thanks to God's timing, my indoor kitchen was ready to work for me. If the group had come two years before as originally planned, the kitchen would not have yet been built. These guys ate like 30 kids at camp! My prayers were answered. God expanded the food and made it taste good to the different nationalities and tastebuds around the table. He is good.

God's presence was felt and at times we experienced the touch of His healing hand. One of the participants was suffering greatly and couldn't eat or sleep. By the time he left he was feeling better, eating and sleeping again. Praise God!

Before the event, the Zion church in Morelia announced a work day to come and help make things ready at Los Domos. There were volunteers with different skills and each one was able to help make it a bit easier for David's preparation to host the Carpenter's Workshop.

We extend an invitation to anyone who would like to come down and help make Campamentos Los Domos a more powerful tool for the Latin American church. Come enjoy God's beautiful handiwork. Enjoy the quiet, soft breeze off the lake and listen to the chirping of the birds in the early mornings. Creation presents the Creator.

Nearly any skill can be used to further discipleship through camps, and while you use your particular talent, experience another culture, another language and savor a taste of traditional foods. 🌱

Karen
